Always Concentrate On How Far You've Come

"Always concentrate on how far you've come. Rather than how far you have left to go."

UNKNOWN
Your end is nowhere in sight, even when you think that your world is coming crashing down. Each day that you are given new breaths to breathe, and new steps to walk is a new day to transform in the most beautiful form of yourself. Coming into your own isn't always something that comes easy to most people but it is something that you have to do so that you may best affect the world in your own way.

Don't ponder so much on how much time you have left in this world. Focus on the time you do have presently. Each minute you have in life is a minute that you have to affect change, and to show the world how beautiful that your unique soul really is. Never forget this, be yourself, show the world the true beauty of a person willing to be them selves, without a care for anyone else's opinion.
