Architecture of Future

As the modern architecture has followed the Industrial Revolution we saw the simplification of form, clear lines and little of no embellishments. Now looking at the projects of the future architectural designs we can see how the modern architecture has evolved in so many different ways.

Exploring material properties and forms, playing gravity, angles and structures modern architects project absolutely stunning buildings the world haven’t seen before. The simplicity of the modern design goes behind as the new complex forms crawl into the design of the modern ambitious architects.

Inspired by new things and sometimes even simple ones around us modern architects come up with the projects of gigantic buildings in forms of dragonfly’s eye, giant chair, body of flame, etc. Thus get to experience a whole new concept of the modern architecture.
