"Enjoy the little things in life, for one day you may look back and realize they were the big things."
Doing the little things in life will take you across the biggest mountains, as long as you are consistent in doing them throughout your lifetime. A little can become a lot, but one must take his or her life into their own hands. Nobody can make your life better than you can make it if you are willing to give it a solid try.

Every little step that you take forward in your life means something. Every small piece of homework you do in grade school, every paper you type up in college, every relationship you experience (even those that only lasted for a couple of weeks), every cookout, every dinner, every get together, every single part of your past, is part of the reason why you are where you are at this moment.

Remember that every single moment you can you must be willing to make your life your own. Live your life the way you want to live life, and remember every little step you take in life will eventually mean something.

Source: here
Posting Disclaimer Notice: This posting is not my own creation collection. My effort is copy paste only. I got it from internet posted by someone else. I’m just saving some time for you to avoid searching everywhere. I’m not violating any copy rights law or not any illegal action which I'm not supposed to do. If anything is against law please notify me so that it can be removed.