"If you can wake up every morning loving what you do, help and inspire others around you to be better than they were yesterday then you know you're doing something right in business and in life."
Be an inspiration. In this cruel world full of people who are only concerned with bringing others down with their judgments, words, and thoughts, we have to be one of the few who actually make an effort to inspire others, and make a difference by being the best motivators we can by simply being ourselves. We must all aspire to inspire, and aspire to create a better world by the time we are gone from it, and then it was when we first began it.

There are many ways to inspire others, but one good way is to actually follow your own dreams wholeheartedly, never give up, and be willing to bless others with tips and kind words that may help others to see that there is still much good around on this humungous planet. Be someone's inspiration before you no longer have the chance to be, inspire the change in the world that will inspire more change in the world.
