"Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow. The important thing is to never stop questioning."
Life is full of questions, and I would venture to say that our whole lives are truly dedicated to living and exploring new questions after we have already answered previous ones. There should always be new questions that every man should want answered, and there should always be new places that every man desires to go. If we aren't willing to keep challenging ourselves we will never allow for ourselves to be the best person we possibly can be.

Keep seeking answers to new questions in life, keep exploring, and keep trying to become a wiser, more knowledgeable person as each day arises. Remember, you may never have the answers to every question, but you can have the answers to the questions that you really need to know. Life is so full of wonder, and mystery, but remember that finding yourself is a key component to you living your best life, and becoming the best you, ask questions, and find answers!
