"Live as if you were to die tomorrow. Learn as if you were to live forever."

No matter if we choose to believe it or not, we are all going to leave this earth with a legacy. Realizing this, we have to know that the type of legacy we leave is left up to how we treat life every day.

How do you want the memory of yourself to appear before others when you are gone? Do you want to be known for helping people to achieve their dreams, or do you want to be known for limiting people from achieving their dreams? Do you want to be known as someone who gave their all in everything that they did, or do you want to be known as a stubborn loser, who never tried past failures.

Do you want to be known as someone who lived their life for a reason greater than themselves, or do you want to be known as someone who never made a move, never took a risk, and played it safe to the grave?

The answers to these questions are yours to make as each day passes, just be sure to choose the right answers.
