"Never regret your past. Rather, embrace it as the teacher that it is. -Robin S. Sharma"

Don't forget all that you have ever learned. Every memory that you have is a part of you. Every fight, every love, every relationship, every dinner, every graduation, and even every school day have left some kind of impression upon you, and have made you exactly who you are presently. Don't try to disregard the person you used to be by just trying to sweep that person under the rug! Embrace your past, even if it doesn't make you happy when thinking about it, it can make your present much more pleasant, and your future days much brighter.

Embrace the trials and tribulations that you experienced, and take with you the lessons that they supplied you with. These memories are arsenal for your future, make the best out of these weapons by using them as each day passes, and as you are given new opportunities to live your life!
