The World Needs People Who Have Come Alive

"Don't ask what the world needs. Ask what makes you come alive, and go do it. Because what the world needs is people who have come alive."
A person who is alive is a person who spreads their life to others a lot of times without even intentionally doing so. The world doesn't need people who are going to bring more of the same to it, the world needs people who are going to bring themselves to it. What makes you come alive? What are the things that you do in life that you have great passion for?

For some of us what brings us great passion may be much different than someone else. Some of us are passionate about being the best family member and friend that we may possibly be, while for another person their job may be what they are most passionate about, or for another teaching others important life skills may be what they are most passionate about.

Go do what makes you feel alive, and love it. You won't have any reason to complain because you are living a life doing what you love, and others will be easily inspired to do the same with their own lives. Be alive, and watch it spread!
