"Whether you think you can or think you can't you're right."
What you do in this world is what you choose to believe that you can do. I know, we have all heard the saying "you can be anything that you put your mind to" but this saying is so cliché because it is very true.

Your life is what you make it. If you choose to wallow in your failures, and if you choose to submit to your defeats, then chances are you won't have much victory or success in your life. If instead you choose to learn from the parts of life that you don't do so well in, and if you choose to continue to keep getting up after life knocks you down, failure will only be in your life for a limited amount of time, and success will be in your life substantially. But you are only going to harvest the seeds in life that you have sown, make sure that you plant the right ones.

Quit talking, and begin doing!
