About

This blog focus on issues related to marine policies, social and political economic aspects of fisheries management in Indonesia. It is also used as media for circulating information that might be becoming sources of student's learning. The blog accommodate public opinions, articles on scientific journal, book, magazine, newspaper, etc.