Today is National Education day!!

with a friend a photo by kanchee82 on Flickr.

The essence from education is that you can learn from anything and anywhere WITHOUT any constrain....Here I show you one example about learn from anything.

This is a photo of two babies of Macaca fuscata who interact each other. I wonder how they learn to do it. Do they learn from their parents or it just their insight to do such interaction?